

MARTLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1783.

LONDON, September 28.

THE ministerial prints, mean and abject enough to stoop to any assertions, however despicable, that can promise, even in the most remote manner, to hurt the cause of America, and injure those employed in her service, have long announced it to the world, that general Washington is in the pay of France: but the charge is so far from being true, that general Washington never did, nor ever will, receive any pay from the French court. It is also equally true, that this illustrious character has never yet received any pay or gratuity whatever from congress. He has always served his country without any pecuniary consideration; and as he has served it, there is no occasion to mention. After this, it is to be hoped, that the ministerial prints will desist from all further attempt to traduce character, by those idle and imprudent libels, which can only tend to render them as ridiculous as they are contemptible.

We shall only add to this, that the circumstances of general Washington are too affluent not to permit him to indulge the liberality of his disposition, in refusing to pay for his services to the United States of America, except, indeed, that congress allow their general table, in which such economy is used, that it seldom presents an entertainment, that a British ensign would think too plain for him to sit down to.

OS. 24. Anecdotes of captain James Sainby, a volunteer in Gibraltar, reported to be killed in the affair of the gun-boats. He was aged about 35, was the youngest son of Mr. Sainby, of Lincolnshire, whose property was considerable in that county. The family very ancient, either there or in Nottinghamshire; and the father, having a deal of family pride, inducted his children in the ideas of keeping up the dignity of the family, by never entering into any sort of trade, and by marrying only into families, as old and respectable as their own. Unfortunately, the son fell violently in love with a young lady, of considerable fortune and great accomplishments, but of no family; his passion was returned before his father knew of the connection; when he discovered it, his rage and expressions of contempt were extreme, and he took his measures so well, as to disgust the lady and all her friends. His son was of a temper as fiery as his own, and, upon the ill treatment he received, left his house, and entered into the army: the father had managed so as to make an entire breach with the young lady, and had the art to put so much of it on his son, that she was deceived, and actually married another man through mistake. Young Sainby, however, convinced her of her error, and upon that she fell into a decline, and died. Being quartered in England, could not support inactivity the mortal languor that hung over him; he went a volunteer to Gibraltar, as the likeliest place to get an honourable dismissal from a world that was rendered detestable to him. He went with the determination never to return; and had asked general Elliot, and been indulged, on several occasions, with employments which seemed fatal to every one but him. At last it is reported he has met the honourable death he sought for.

Extra of a letter from Holybad, October 4.

"I am sorry to acquaint you with the loss of his majesty's frigate the Stag, of 36 guns; the night of the 20th inst. it blew a hurricane at N. N. E. and continued until the next morning, when, after cutting away her masts, throwing the guns, &c. overboard, and the gale still continuing, yesterday afternoon she drove on shore near this harbour; fortunately the officers and crew were saved."

Hanging the people by dozens, and sacrificing them by thousands in a lingering and useless war, conducted for the benefit of ministers and contractors, are measures which do not seem to lessen the number of gamblers, highwaymen, and footpads. Diogenes, seeing a young fellow drunk, told him his father was drunk when he begot him. The vices of the people are from their political fathers, their legislators and governors; and in England, it must be owned, there is a strong family likeness between the political parents and their offspring.

The secretaries of state, the lord chancellor, and all the cabinet, are expressly desired to remain in town this week, as some affairs are likely to be agitated in council, which call for great deliberation. Several late councils have not broke up till after midnight.

Nov. 21. Notwithstanding the negotiations for peace, our ministers are determined, that until it is signed the war shall be vigorously prosecuted against the house of Bourbon. A bold expedition is certainly to be undertaken by general Dalling; major-general Grey, a very gallant, active, and distinguished officer, is already appointed second in command; the number of troops to embark with them will be about 5000, principally those that came lately from Ireland, in consequence of a vote of the parliament of that country.

Extra of a letter, dated St. Roch, Oct. 28.

Since the garrison has been relieved, the enemy play off their artillery in the most tremendous manner, and do great mischief in our lines. Ever since the 11th we have been obliged to remain in the open air, with no other canopy than that of the heavens, the hurricane of that day having destroyed all our tents and marquees. Thirty sail at least have been drove on shore, and a great number of lives lost. The advice of Don Louis Cordova was, not to depart from Algiers, being certain, as he thought, of intercepting the enemy on their return; the other officers were of a different opinion, and now may repent of their opposition at leisure. Many and loud are the complaints against general Elliot; the point is universally given up, that he was not justifiable in firing red hot bullets against the floating batteries."

Gibraltar has cost the Spaniards, in the present long protracted siege, near seven millions sterling, near 10,000 lives, and a quantity of character beyond all the computation of arithmetic.

When the Tankerville packet sailed from Jamaica, the following ships were on that station.

London	90	Monarch	74
Torbay	74	Repulse	74
Ajax	74	Ardent	64
Shrewsbury	74	Nonfuch	64

Nov. 23. It is with great pleasure we acquaint the public, that advices are received by express from Dartmouth, dated Wednesday night, with the important intelligence of the Newfoundland and Quebec convoy, in all about 60, being safely arrived at Plymouth sound.

The return of count Belliofa, the imperial ambassador, has given rise to some political speculations; a short time will shew whether they are well or ill founded.

C O R K E.

At a meeting of the Glanmire union, holden at Glanmire, the 12th of October, 1782.

COLONEL MANNIX in the chair.

The following resolutions were unanimously agreed to: Resolved, That we have every reason to be assured that parliament granted to his majesty, five thousand men, part of the forces on this establishment, solely on the fullest conviction that the volunteers of Ireland were sufficient in every respect for her defence and protection.

Resolved, That no event has since happened which either by the increase of power in our enemies, or the diminution of forces in our volunteers, can be supposed to have in any degree altered the sentiments of our representatives on this subject.

Resolved therefore, That we consider the project of raising six regiments under the denomination of fencibles or provincials as only nominally and speciously planned for the defence of this kingdom, but in reality contrived to spread the baneful spirit of disunion among our volunteers, and repugnant to the declared sentiments of our parliament.

Resolved, That we will, by all constitutional methods, oppose and prevent the levying these regiments; hereby declaring our resolution of not doing any duty with them if they should unfortunately be raised against the voice of the nation, and we are determined on all occasions to shew our disapprobation of the conduct of such volunteers as may be induced to become stipendiaries and desert the free banner of their country.

HENRY MANNIX, colonel.

C A R E N A G E, (St. Lucia) November 2.

On the 24th ult. was brought in here, the French king's flute called the Dauphin, from Rochefort to Martinique, and captured by his majesty's ship Argos, John Butchart, Esq; commander, to windward of Dominique, the 23d inst. She mounts 32 nine pounders, and had on board when taken, 348 men. She is chiefly loaded with provisions and artillery, for the French islands; and has on board besides, a valuable cargo of linens and India goods, all private property.

Nov. 9. On Thursday his excellency the commander in chief and major-general O'Hara, with their suite, arrived here from Antigua.

On the 28th ult. the ship Molly, captain Lloyd, from Liverpool bound to this island, was attacked by the American privateer Holker, in sight of Barbados, and taken after an engagement of near an hour, in which the captain of the Holker was shot through the nose, and several men killed and wounded, and suffered very considerably in his masts, rigging, &c. particularly the former, both of which have been taken on since his arrival at Martinico with his prize. The Molly mounted 16 light six pounders, and had only 43 men and boys on board; one of whom was killed and 12 wounded, mostly dangerously; the Holker mounts 16 six pounders, and had on board 102 men.

Nov. 16. The privateer schooner Revenge, belonging to Barbados, carried into that island about a week ago, a very large and valuable French store-ship, having on board among other articles several top-masts for line of battle ships.

Jan. 4. We have the pleasure, with certainty, to assure our readers, that the Ville de Paris and Glorieux, were both safe at Corvo, one of the Western Islands.

S T. J O H N ' S, (Antigua) January 11.

When the last vessels which have arrived in these seas left Europe, his majesty's ship Andromache was waiting at Portsmouth, in order to bring us the interesting intelligence, whether we should soon again enjoy the blessings of peace, or the war continued until our enemies are a little more humbled. It is also said, that the Andromache will bring out the November and December mails.

S L E M, January 30.

Extra of a letter from Newport, dated January 10.

"I congratulate you on the arrival of captain Sherman from the Cape yesterday, in a fine passage of only 12 days from the land; says, there has been an embargo near two months. He came out with a fleet of near 50 sail, mostly Danes; one vessel belonging to Newbury came out with him, the first of the month, I think he says, the captain's name is Clarke. Captain Mackay of the Apollo, just arrived from Boston, ran through the British fleet, cruising off the Cape, admiral Hood, commander. He says, there is a large fleet of French and Spaniards making up at Porto Rico, there being there 200 sail of transports and victuallers, and some men of war there already; and that the Spanish fleet from the Havanna sailed about Christmas for Porto Rico, 16 sail of the line, and they lay at the Cape; that the fleet that sailed from Boston is to be there; and that there was a cutter in from France a few days before he sailed, which brought a list of 40 sail of the line sailing from some port of Spain, French and Spaniards, with 30,000 troops, and were to be joined by 14 sail of Dutch, the whole under the command of count d'Estaing, all to make up at Porto Rico, and then to attack Jamaica.

P R O V I D E N C E, January 25.

Extra of a letter from a gentleman in Philadelphia to his friend in this town, dated Jan. 6.

"As every thing relating to finance so essentially concerns all ranks of people, I have sent you the following extracts of letters from gentlemen in public characters in Europe, to others in like characters in this city, and which have been read in congress."

Extra of a letter from Mr. Adams, dated Hague, July 5.

"Although I was obliged to engage with them for five millions of guilders, I do not expect we shall obtain that sum for a long time. If we get a million and a half by Christmas, it will be more than I expect."

Extra of a letter from another gentleman, dated Paris, October 25.

"In a letter from Mr. Adams to me, dated Hague, September 29, I had the following intelligence: 'Amidst the innumerable crowd of loans which are opened in this country, many of which have little success, I was afraid that ours would have failed. I have however the pleasure to inform you, that I am at least one million and a half in cash (about three millions of livres) which will be an aid to the operations of our finances.' From this it appears that Mr. Adams has well employed his time in Holland; and I beg you will please to communicate this extract to Mr. Morris."

By these two extracts of letters from Mr. Adams, it appears, that the loan he is negotiating in Holland had not failed; but on the contrary, that it had filled faster than he had expected; the same loan having been obtained by him on the 29th of September, which he had not expected by Christmas.

N E W - Y O R K, February 12.

Saturday last was sent in here, by his majesty's frigate Hufar, Thomas Macnamara Russell, Esq; commander, of 20 guns, and 160 men, the French frigate la Sybil, of 38 guns, and 350 men, commanded by Monsieur le count de Kegarou de Leomaria.

Captain Russell fell in with the Sybil on the 22d ult. in lat. 36, 20, on soundings, in a fresh gale and hazy weather, standing to the westward, wind N. N. W. the Sybil having up an English ensign reversed in the main shrouds, and English colours over French on the ensign-staff, under jury-masts. This appearance of Monsieur induced captain Russell to believe that he was a prize to some British ship of war, and in distress, and therefore prepared to succour and relieve him; for which purpose he stood under his lee to hail him; but at that moment the Frenchman put up his helm, and captain Russell not suspecting his design, received a half-raking fire, which killed him two men. The Hufar and Sybil were in a few minutes close on board each other, but Monsieur not losing his situation, put before the wind, as did the Hufar also, and a fair engagement commenced, that lasted one hour, in which time the bowsprit and fore-mast of the latter received some damage, but was soon repaired, and after a pursuit of near two hours, the Centurion appearing to Windward, and the Tartar sloop about five miles to Leeward, under a press of sail, the Hufar again came up with the chate, and renewed the action; at the third broadside from the Hufar, Monsieur found his ship sinking, his powder drowned, and his opponent reducing him to close fight, he once more attempted, but in vain, to fly.

In the above action, captain Russell, and his brave crew, have acquired great honour, having fought their ship in a masterly manner, and captured an enemy double their force; and to do Monsieur de Kegarou justice, (although he fought thirty minutes under English colours and signals of distress) he manœuvred his ship with great judgment.

Captain Russell has confined Monsieur in state prisoner, for the violation of the laws of nations, fighting under false colours, for which he has received the applause of all his brother and superior officers.

The Sybil sailed from Cape François the 27th ult. with 16 vessels under her convoy, bound for Virginia, seven of which were captured by his majesty's ships Amphion, Cyclops, Diomed, &c. and sent in here.

P H I L A D E L P H I A, February 18.

Extra of a letter from Elizabeth-town, dated February 12.

"We have been for some days past in the greatest suspense about peace. Indeed it is difficult to judge, by the accounts received from the West-Indies, what will finally be the event of this mist of intelligence, which at present surrounds us. They have had no arrival as yet at New-York from Europe, though a vessel, it is said, came within the Hook a few days ago, and lays at the Narrows. No body can tell where she came from, though it is said from Europe. Reports from New-York mention captain Barry's arrival at Martinico, with news of the preliminaries of peace being signed on the 13th of December; but other accounts say, that it was done on the 30th of November, between America and Britain only; but this is too absurd and inconsistent to be credited, because all the powers at war must have signed at one, and the same time, and France, as principal, it is natural to suppose, would have taken the precedence in a matter of such importance. But it is the case, how shall we account for the sailing of the count d'Estaing for the West-Indies with a large fleet and army, whose arrival there, as reported, has given them no small concern and apprehension in New-York, as an embarkation will probably take place in consequence of it. Some intelligence however has been received at New-York, which has not been altogether agreeable to the Tories in that city. But a handbill, I am told, is just published, which, in some measure, has dispelled their gloom and melancholy. If peace is so very near as people in general believe, a few days will put us out of all doubt, but we ought not to be too easily lulled, and thrown off our guard, as we have had repeated proofs of British faith and stratagem. Amidst all this doubt and uncertainty, it is a matter of great surprise that they have had no packet or vessel with intelligence of such consequence to them. It is said a packet is daily expected. The king's speech was brought from Tortola, by which he has, at last, been obliged to acknowledge our independence; though some say it wants parliamentary approbation. A report has been circulated, that hostilities are to cease on our coast, the 13th of February, but I imagine this is only mere deception, as their cruisers are daily taking our vessels, and they have had no European vessels, which could have brought them such orders."

UPWARDS of two years ago I was struck with a paralytic stroke, which affected me very much; it happened that I met with Mr. Logan, who promised to make a cure of my leg and arm, without any inward application, by applying a kind of ointment; I found in about a fortnight a great deal of relief in my right arm, knee, and ankle; from the anguish of the gout it continued rather longer than I expected. I write this for the good of mankind.

I HEREBY certify, that my wife has been troubled with rheumatic pains these six years, and captain Whitton sent Mr. Logan to see her; when he came he said he could relieve her, and in three weeks time she was clear of all pains in her arms. This I write in behalf of Mr. Logan, as several doctors have had her in hand and did her no good.

THIS is to certify, that Mr. Logan, of Annapolis, prescribed medicines for John Hayman, who was confined to his bed with the rheumatism for a long time, by which I was restored to perfect health.

MICHAEL EARLE, Esq; who had a white swelling for about sixteen years, was also restored to perfect health by Mr. Logan's medicine.

A GENTLEMAN who had the piles and gravel for about sixteen years, was also restored to perfect health by Mr. Logan's medicine.

I ALSO relieve palsies, rheumatism, gout, gravel, fluxes, contractions of the limbs, white swellings, dropsy, running ulcers, &c. &c. I will take patients at my own house, or elsewhere in Annapolis; but cannot attend any in the country, except such as are confined to their beds. Constant attendance will be given, by their very humble servant,

WILLIAM LOGAN.

A VALUABLE PLANTATION, near the head of Stoney-creek, whereon there is an exceeding good and new dwelling house, and many other convenient and necessary out houses, in good order, near the dwelling, which stands on the main road between Severn-ferry and Baltimore; would well suit a private gentleman's family, or any inclinable to go into a public way of business, and is situated within half a mile of two merchant-mills. The soil is good, well timbered, and there is excellent water very near the dwelling. For further particulars enquire of the subscriber in Annapolis.

N. B. The plantation contains 500 acres, and is situated very conveniently near the water.

RAN away from the subscriber, living in Anne-Arundel county, near South river ferry, on the 24th of December 1782, a likely dark mulatto negro man named PLATO, 24 years of age, about 5 feet 8 or 10 inches high, he is a good carpenter, cooper, and sawyer by trade, he is a little near kneed; had on when he went away, a crocus shirt, white country cloth jacket and breeches, coarse yarn stockings, a coarse pair of shoes, with four soles to each, and a straw hat, he carried with him several other cloaths, it is supposed that he will try to pass for a freeman. Whoever takes up said negro, dead or alive, and brings him home, or secures him so that I may get him again, shall be entitled to receive twenty Spanish dollars for their trouble.

GASSAWAY RAWLINGS.

Office of Finance, November 8, 1782.

NOTICE is hereby given, to all whom it may concern, that counterfeiters have appeared of the notes issued from this office, struck on copper-plate, in the following form: "At sight pay to the bearer twenty dollars, for which this shall be your sufficient warrant;" which notes are signed by me, and directed to Mr. John Swanwick, Philadelphia. There were some notes of the same kind for fifty and some for eighty dollars, which may perhaps be also counterfeited, though none have been yet discovered. The counterfeiters are badly executed, and might with care be detected; but, from an apprehension that such arts would be practised, I long since desisted from issuing them, and cancelled those which were brought in for payment. There are now out only sixteen thousand six hundred and seventy dollars, and as no great inconvenience can arise from putting a stop to the circulation of so trivial a sum, the public are cautioned against receiving any notes struck on copper-plate, and signed with my name. All persons holding those which are genuine, are desired to send them to Mr. Swanwick, and receive the money.

WANTED, as an apprentice by the printer hereof, a lad who can read and write well.
